AUGUST DAYS IN WESTERLY

Auto Speeders Irritate Townspeople—William Pendleton's Head Gashed by Falling Block—New Fire Alarm System—James S. Brown's American Stable Pleases Austrians.

Reckless driving of automobiles in the town of Westerly, in common with other places in Rhode Island, is a misdemeanor punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both. That law is not strictly enforced in Westerly is demonstrated by the collision of the Lang and Spencer automobiles at Watch Hill, Monday morning. When this collision occurred it was known to be a very dangerous place of overtaking the sharp curve and the narrowness of the highway, still one or both of the machines were at high speed and when the drivers sighted each other collision could not be averted, especially as that part of the road assigned to the trolley road was occupied by a moving trolley car at that particular moment. Had the car happened to have been discharging passengers at the time the impact would have been undoubtedly more serious. It so happened that the only damage was a couple of wrecked automobiles.

The collision was purely a result of reckless driving and from the fact that neither party has filed complaint against the other, leads to the belief that both are equally guilty. One who drives his own automobile and who has ever in mind the safety of himself and others, declares that it is extremely dangerous to ride in the streets of the town of Westerly where reckless drivers pay no respect to the laws relative to speed and careful driving, and that it was about time some movement was made to check the increasing evil. Aside from complaints from individuals whose property or person had been injured, there have been no arrests in Westerly for reckless driving, and only two arrests have been made for exceeding the speed limit. In the latter instance the arrests were made on a Sunday afternoon about a year ago, by officers out on special duty. The two offenders were strangers and were penalized $100 each. Since then there has been nothing doing towards regulating the speed of the proper and careful driving of automobiles in the town of Westerly.

There is a reason for all this under the statutes that to a certain extent relieve the local officials. In all prosecutions of this kind the town pays the expense and the state reaps the financial benefit. Should the locals win in court prosecution the state gets the fine proceeds, but should the case be lost to the prosecution the town bears all the expenses. No allowance is made for the state, for instance, to pay for securing evidence or trapping automobilists, who exceed the speed limit. In order to catch the two who did exceed the limit it was necessary for the officers to have an automobile on the road, to note and overhaul the speeders, and for this and similar expense the town had to pay, the state making no provision for the payment of even actual expenses. In these cases the town aggregated $200, and the whole sum went to the state save fifty cents for the officers' actual expenses. The town is now serving the warrant and twenty for each mile traveled with the prisoner.

James S. Brown, a former resident of North Stonington, who has relatives in Westerly and who was known as a horseman all over New England, and also a dealer in wool, went west about fifteen years ago and has been located in Austria several years, where he is one of the best of the best posted of American horsemen. The Vienna correspondent of the Horse Review writes:

James Stone Brown, part owner of Dulce Jay, 2:09 3/4, maintains a stable of twenty-four trotters besides Dulce Jay, among which are the three Americans, El Victor, 2:08 1/2, Es-celso (3), 2:29 1/2, and Gambolier, 2:26 3/4. He has also several promising youngsters, among them the two year old filly, Lilly Prodigal, by Prodigal, 2:16, dam Lilly Young, 2:09 1/4. Twelve of the trotters James Brown works belong to Schlesinger Brothers, eight to the Vencellose stud farm, and two to our champion gentleman driver, Baron Oza Sonnyey, while the other pupil, the two year old filly Boreas by Boreaselle, is the trainer's property.

William Pendleton received serious injury Tuesday morning while assisting in unloading a cargo of coal from a schooner in the Pawcatuck river. An overhead block of the hoisting gear fell a distance of about thirty feet, striking Mr. Pendleton in the back of the head, cutting the scalp, and inflicting four stitches to close. Dr. Scanlon was called to attend the injured man and accompanied him to his home.

Workmen from the Gamwell company of Boston are in Westerly, doing preliminary work for the installation of a modern fire alarm system, provision for which was made at a special meeting of the Westerly fire department. An entire fire alarm system is to be put in and will be extended to the annexed section of the district. It is expected that by the time the system is installed that the chemical equipped hose wagon will be in commission and that the reels in the outlying fire stations will be well supplied with hose and other general improvements made in the fire department. When the contemplated changes are completed Westerly's fire department will be in first class condition.

The Opie employees had their annual outing at Brightman's pond, on Tuesday, going thence in two large four-horse barges. There were games and field sports for prizes, contested for by nearly all of the young women and young men of the large party, in accordance with a carefully prepared order of exercises. There were a few guests, among them Police Constable John Reardon, whose special duty was to protect the supplies at the ball game and the judges of the other field sports and to prevent over-indulgence in lemonade and ice cream, the latter service of the chowder and clam bake. It was the most successful annual event of the Opie employees, due to the efficient work of the committee of arrangements.

REPUBLICAN MAJORITY.
Caucus Registration Shows 727 Electors as Against 208 Democrats.

That there is still a good strong working majority in the republican ranks in the town of Putnam is indicated by the totals on the caucus lists, just completed, whereon 727 electors have signified their preference for republican policies, while only 208 registered themselves as exponents of democratic theories. There are several hundred more voters in the town of Putnam who have not complied with the requirement that permits them to vote in a party caucus, but it is probable that a big majority of the unregistered are members of the republican party.

Bishop Woodcock and Rev. David Bowen Preached Sunday in Adjoining Churches.

Two former Ansonia residents, the Rt. Rev. Charles E. Woodcock, D. D. and the Rev. David Bowen, preached in adjoining churches in New York city Sunday morning. The Rev. Mr. Woodcock, now Episcopal bishop of Kentucky, was at St. Bartholomew's church, Madison avenue and Forty-fourth street, while Rev. Mr. Bowen preached at Calvary church, Fourth avenue and One Hundred and Forty-first street. These two parishes adjoin each other and are the largest and most prominent of the Episcopal church in New York city.

Bishop Woodcock will occupy the pulpit of St. Bartholomew's church for two weeks, being one of the special summer preachers. Rev. Mr. Bowen is attached to Calvary church, being in charge this month during the absence of the rector.

Bishop Woodcock was for twelve years rector of that church, this city. Rev. Mr. Bowen being one of his parishioners. The latter was a member of Christ church parish from boyhood and it was largely the influence and instruction of Bishop Woodcock that led him to study for the priesthood.

Rev. Mr. Bowen was ordained deacon at Holy Trinity church, Middletown June 2, 1897, and received full orders at Christ church last June from Bishop Chauncey B. Brewster, bishop of Connecticut.—Ansonia Sentinel.
